

General Terms of Reciprocal Organization Agreements

- A reciprocal attendee is one who does not hold membership in the reciprocal organization.
- Reciprocal attendees may attend reciprocal organization meetings, at the reciprocal organization's member rates or fees.
- Reciprocal attendees must abide by the reciprocal organization's operating procedures.
- Reciprocal attendees must not vote on reciprocal organization's items (including during meetings).
- Reciprocal attendees must not distribute proprietary standards or documents.
- Reciprocal attendees to NCPDP meetings may request work group meeting specific work documents (such as Data Element Request Forms (DERFs), New Project Development Forms, ballot adjudication documents, or products specifically listed for a work group for that session) from NCPDP's Standards Development staff.