2020 – 2021 Edition

SPONSORED BY:

NCPDP brings diverse stakeholders together to advance information technology solutions that improve patient care while establishing a more cost-effective healthcare system. As an ANSI-accredited standards organization, we create and promote standards for electronic healthcare transactions through a consensus-building process.

NCPDP members participating in that process include payers, providers, prescribers, pharmacists, pharmacy benefit managers, consultants, pharmaceutical manufacturers, database management organizations, information management professionals, technology vendors, drug wholesalers, physician services organizations, industry professional societies, service organizations, and government agencies.

NCPDP invites all stakeholder groups to collaborate with us. In addition to gaining a voice in the consensus process and valuable networking, our members have access to all NCPDP standards. Other member resources include educational programs, database products and legislative tracking tools.

THE 2020-2021 HEALTHCARE ACRONYM
DICTIONARY IS SPONSORED BY:

Founded in 1999 and headquartered in Los Angeles, CA, Medversant is a pioneer in healthcare technology. We are dedicated to changing the paradigm in provider data management by delivering innovative technologies and services that centralize, standardize, automate, and integrate provider information for the benefit of all.

Our web-based provider data management platform automatically and continuously checks for changes in license, OIG status, DEA certification, contact information, and much more. Those changes are communicated in real time to those who need to know, preventing problems before they occur. Whether you are a government agency, healthcare organization, or medical provider, our solutions decrease cost and risk while increasing patient safety.
